shame and cannot be given any weight in the discussion without dishonor. No chance is left to me but to enforce, with vigor, all laws intended to secure the citizen his constitutional rights and to recommend that the inadequacies of such laws be promptly remedied.

I venture to again remind you that the brief time remaining for the consideration of the important legislation now awaiting your attention offers no margin for waste. If the present duty is discharged with diligence, fidelity and courage, the work of the Fifty-first Congress may be confidently submitted to the considerate judgment of the people.

ESCAPED LYNNING.

By Putting On a Woman's Dress--
And Passing for a Cook.

(By United Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, Alabama, Dec. 1st.—In Shelby county, on Wednesday, John Daniels, a negro, was arrested for a criminal assault upon a white woman, and placed in jail at Columbiana. Thursday night a mob surrounded the jail with the intention of lynching the prisoner. While the sheriff held a parley with the mob his deputy went into jail and made Daniel put on a dress and bonnet, and then ordered the negro to walk out through the mob. The sheriff explained to the mob that the woman was the cook at the jail going home. The deputy followed Daniels close enough to prevent his escape, and in this way they passed through the mob and the prisoner was brought to this city.

CAUCUSSING.

Republicans Will Probably Urge the Force Bill to an Early Vote.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—The Republican members of the Senate held a caucus this afternoon to consider the order of business for the session, especially in its relation to the Federal election bill. The caucus was in session for nearly two hours. There was a large attendance and no dissent from the proposition to carry out the programme agreed upon before the adjournment of the first session—to take up the Federal election bill at the beginning of this session and press it to a vote.

The Committee on Order of Business was directed to prepare an order of business, the first measure to be considered to be the Federal election bill.

The committee appointed at the last session to co-operate with the Republican members of the Committee on Rules in the preparation of a rule to provide for calling the previous question, was instructed to report some modification of existing rules with this object in view, and it was agreed that if the Democrats use obstructive tactics against the Federal election bill, a proposition to change the rules will be brought in immediately.

The caucus was harmonious throughout. The action of the caucus does not determine the question of passing the Federal election bill. There were not enough Republican Senators present to guarantee absolutely that the change of rules will be made.

THE RUNAWAYS FOUND.

Tidings From the Two Young Ladies

(Special to STATE CHRONICLE.)

WINSTON, N. C., Dec. 1.—The two young ladies, Misses Octavia Wellons and Nellie Crumpler, who ran away from their home in Salem two weeks ago and bought a ticket to New York, have been heard from. Chief of Police Bradford, after going North and interviewing Inspector Byrnes, returned and reported that they were not to be found, and the father sent Detective Pfuhl, whom it is said has wired back for more money to continue the chase. Yesterday your correspondent was told they wired here for money to come home on. The girls were then in Kentucky and on their way west. Reports are now here that they have been overtaken in Cincinnati. Their reason for elopement is not known, for they are of unquestioned character and belong to good families.

Fire at Louisburg.

(Special Cor. of STATE CHRONICLE.)

LOUISBURG, N. C., Nov. 30.—The fire meeting is still increasing in interest. The crowd was estimated to-day at 3,000. I do not know the number of converts, but more than a hundred, and still a number of penitents. Old men, middle aged men and young men, all seem melted down by the earnestness of the preacher.

A collection was taken up for Mr. Fife to-day, amounting to near $1,000. The meeting will not close to-night as announced, but will continue several days into the next week.

THE NATIONAL CONGRESS.

THE RE-ASSEMBLING OF THE NATION'S LEGISLATURE.

Two New Senators from Wyoming--
New Members in the House--Floral
Emblems--Notes, &c., of the Opening Day.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—Senate.—There was an unusually large attendance of Senators present at the opening of to-day's session. The seats on both sides of the chamber were nearly all occupied, and the galleries were filled with spectators. The most conspicuous object in the chamber was a large bed of roses surmounted by a dome-like pedestal, on which stood in the flush and pride of victory, a rooster, emblematic of the Democratic success in the recent elections. This decorated the desk of Mr. Voorhees.

Immediately after the Chaplain's prayer the credentials of the two Senators-elect from the new State of Wyoming were presented by Mr. Hoar, and when they were read, the two Senators, Messrs. Carey and Warren, were escorted to the vice-President's desk and took the oath of office.

A drawing by lot to decide their respective terms took place, the shorter term closing March, 1893, falling to Mr. Warren, and the longer one, closing March, 1895, to Mr. Carey.

A recess was then taken until 1:30 to await the coming of the President's Message.

After the recess a report was made from the committee to wait on the President, and immediately afterwards the President's Message was delivered and was read by Secretary McCook.

When the reading of the Message was finished, the Senate, at 2:45, adjourned till to-morrow.

House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—The continuous hum of conversation rose from the floor of the hall of the House of Representatives to the crowded galleries all through the half court this morning that preceded the time for the assembling of the second session of the 51st Congress.

There was a good attendance on both sides of the hall and much good natured badinage about the recent election flew across the centre aisle. On the desk of the Speaker was a pyramid of flowers, and there were other floral pieces on the desks of Representatives Kerr, of Pennsylvania, Holman, Harmer, Flick, Wilson, of West Virginia, Atkinson, of West Virginia, Vaux and Flower.

One minute before noon the Speaker entered the hall and ascended the steps to the Speaker's chair. The tap of his gavel brought the House to order as the hands of the clock marked noon.

Chaplain Milburn delivered a brief prayer, and then the clerk began to call the roll by States. The roll-call disclosed the presence of 227 members, and the clerk was directed to inform the Senate that a quorum of the House had appeared and that that body was ready to proceed to business.

On motion of Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to join a similar committee on the part of the Senate to wait on the President.

Mr. Rogers, of Kansas, rising to a question of the highest privilege, asked that the oath of office be administered to Clifton R. Breckenridge as Representative from the Second Arkansas district. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

The Speaker stated that there were various credentials upon his table, which he would present to the House.

The credentials were then read as follows:

Messrs. C. R. Breckenridge, Second Arkansas district; Willis Sweet, Idaho, C. W. Stone, Twenty-seventh district, Pennsylvania; Clarence D. Clark, Wyoming.

These gentlemen then appeared at the bar of the House and were duly qualified.

Mr. Breckenridge received a round of hearty applause from his Democratic friends.

John S. Pender, from the 24th New York district; F. R. Hayes, from the 7th Iowa district, and Robert Whitelaw, from the 14th Missouri district, qualified as Representatives, notwithstanding the non-arrival of their credentials.

The Speaker laid before the House the credentials of David A. Harvey as delegate from the Territory of Oklahoma, and upon motion the oath of office was administered to him. The House then took a recess until 11:30 p. m. to await the coming of the President's message.

At 1:30 p. m. the President's Message was received and the clerk at once began to read it. An hour and a half was consumed in reading the document, and then on motion of Mr. McKinley it was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Morrow, of California, from the committee on appropriations reported the pension appropriation bill which was also referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Flower of New York, introduced in the House to-day a joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Interior to order the retaking of the New York census.

A long preamble to the resolution sets forth the controversy had in this matter between the government and the New York State officials.

Mr. Cummings introduced a resolution of like character.

The House then at 3:05 adjourned.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory, and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of the Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. JNO. W. THOMPSON CANED!

By the Man Who Was His Opponent for the Democratic Nomination for Clerk--The Occurrence Witnessed by a Number of People.

On Sunday the CHRONICLE told the people they might witness something interesting if they would go to the court house on Monday at 3 o'clock. Yesterday at that hour a goodly number of people had assembled at the court house to see what was to come off.

Mr. Jno. W. Thompson had just been inducted into the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court and was busily engaged in receiving the office, with various instructions, from his predecessor.

But a crowd filed into his office and presently Mr. N. B. Broughton called Mr. Thompson to "stand up." That gentleman arose and Mr. Broughton said:

Mr. Thompson, I am called on to perform a very pleasant duty for myself and some of your friends. You have had two severe fights recently. One was when you wanted the nomination for Superior court clerk and feared you would not get it. Then you had a pretty bad fight because you were afraid you would not get elected; for you were running against a man who was accustomed to win tremendous victories. Now, we intend to fix you so you can have some show in case you have any more fights.

Here is a handsome cane which I am requested to present to you by your friend, Prof. McK. Goodwin, who was your competitor for the Democratic nomination. This cane was cut from the battlefield of Waterloo in 1819, by Prof. Goodwin himself, while he was touring Europe. (The cane has a very handsome silver head and bears the following inscription: "From E. McK. G. to J. W. T., the Wellington of Wake.")

Mr. Broughton further said: "In coming into this office you have won a great victory because you have met a great foe. All we can wish for you is that you shall win such a reputation for efficiency as your predecessor has won for himself in the able discharge of his duties."

Mr. Thompson was completely taken by surprise and showed it in his features and deportment. It was really some moments before he could "get his bearings," so to speak. He looked at the cane in a dazed sort of way for a little while, then he earnestly remarked his appreciation, which he said he could not express as he felt it. He referred to the campaign, and said that during its progress the most kindly relations had obtained between himself and Mr. Upchurch, and all he hoped for was to make as able and efficient and popular officer as Mr. Chas. D. Upchurch had made. He felt special appreciation for the very graceful action on the part of Prof. Goodwin.

After the incident some one suggested that hereafter Mr. Thompson should be known as "Jno. Wellington Thompson."

Rev. Mr. Clark's Rectorship Closed.

Rev. Mr. Clark, who has been rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd for three years past, preached his farewell sermon to his congregation on Sunday morning last, and at night he spoke a few words of farewell. There is surely a deep and genuine regret at Mr. Clark's departure from this city. His own people and the people of other congregations are loath to give him up, and as he leaves here for his new field of duty, he carries with him the greatest love and best wishes that it is possible for a people and a city to bear toward a member of mankind.

Rev. Mr. Pettinger, Mr. Clark's successor, is expected to arrive here some time next week.

The Teachers' Institute.

The Wake County Teachers' Institute was opened yesterday morning at 11 o'clock by Prof. E. A. Alderman. Thirty-two teachers were in attendance, and quite a number are expected to swell the attendance to-day. The exercises as conducted by Prof. Alderman were very instructive and interesting.

On Friday he will give a public lecture, and it is hoped that a large crowd of the citizens of the city and county will attend that day.

All the sessions of the institute are open to the public, and all are cordially invited to look in.

Tidings From Their Absent Son.

Some two months ago the eldest son of Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter, of this city, went out to Wake Forest to attend school. The young man went very much against his will, but apparently yielded to the wishes of his parents. A few days afterward he left the college quietly and secretly. He left no word as to where he was going, and for a little while the worst fears were entertained. Nothing was made public about the matter at the time, and ever since the young man's departure his parents have been doing everything possible to learn where he might have gone. They have undergone great anxiety about their son, but have always firmly believed that they would hear from him at some time.

Yesterday their hearts were lightened and made glad by a telegraphic dispatch from West Virginia, saying that their son was there and was well.
